

directors' spatulas, and other instruments, which leave nothing to be desired, whatever emergency may arise. It is almost needless to add, in view of the world-wide reputation of the inventors, that every article is of the best possible quality. Two flaps (the lower of which forms receptacles for pins, needles, sutures, ligatures, &c., &c.) fold over, and so cover and keep clean the various instruments. But to our mind they subserve a still more important function in concealing the contents. Nothing naturally alarms nervous patients so much as the armoury revealed, and generally jangling, which many Nurses wear. No one else, except Red Indians or African savages in their war paint, display so many fearsome pieces of steel about their persons as the modern Nurse. Such ornamentation will always be appreciated and worn by inferior workers, but the best class of Nurses will be glad to know of Messrs. Allen and Hanburys' invention for its compact convenience yet unostentatious contents.

TO NURSES, STUDENTS, and all those who take Notes.

"Cheap Fountain Pens, are, as a rule, a mistake, seldom giving satisfaction after a brief trial. An exception, is, however, THE STUDENT'S STYLOGRAPH (LONDON PEN COMPANY)

16, Holborn Bars, E.C., which retails at 4s. 6d. This we have found to be of excellent finish and enduring quality, not 'made to sell,' but made to serve, while being within reach of many who cannot afford to pay a higher price."—Extract from The Christian, of August 18th, 1891.
