

Inventions, Preparations, &c.

MANY are the advantages that we enjoy in this century, the ingenious minds of some having invented, for the use of all, such articles of utility, that it is scarcely possible to imagine how we have hitherto managed without them. The writer at the present time refers more particularly to the usefulness of a Shipman's Fountain Pen. It is with one of these that I now am writing this article, and having used it continuously for the last three months, I speak not theoretically, but practically of the great service any one of my readers would find in using one. Mr. J. Funnell Christian, of 17, Paternoster Row, E.C., is the sole European and export agent of the Shipman Fountain and Stylographic Pens, and we believe that it has been the endeavour of both to place upon the market an article that is both thoroughly useful and ornamental. We give here nib, so that by this gradual action the ink is equally distributed into the nib, even up to the last drop of ink, thus avoiding all blots. The speciality of the Fountain Pen is the fact of it being fitted with a gold nib (iridium pointed, so as to protect the gold from wearing), that when buying, if care is taken in selecting, the style of the handwriting can be fully maintained. These pens vary in price from that already mentioned to forty-two shillings. The difference in price is caused through degrees of outward elegance—gold-chased bands, &c.—not inferior workmanship in the mechanical manufacture of the pen. Shipman's Stylographic Pens, of which Mr. J. F. Christian keeps a large selection in stock, vary in price from four shillings and sixpence to twelve shillings and sixpence each, according to size and outward finish. These pens, the exact facsimile of the four-and-sixpenny (illustrated below) are all worked on the same principle—that is, an illustration of the actual size of the eight-and-sixpenny Fountain Pen. This has a spiral feed-bar, or channel, by which the ink flows into the

that the needle and spring are made in one, and that of gold, thereby entirely preventing any clogging which would necessarily occur where

GROSSMITH'S ARTIFICIAL LEGS and EYES ARTIFICIAL EYES, LEGS, ARMS, & HANDS.
GROSSMITH'S

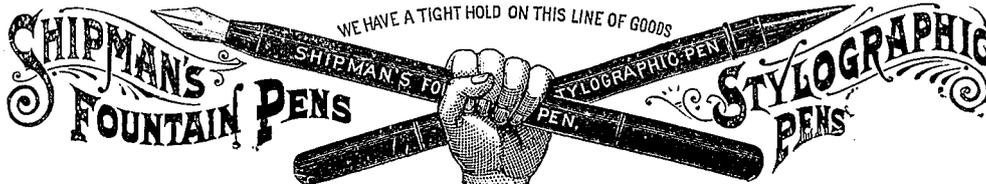

PRIZE MEDAL ARTIFICIAL LEGS—with patent action Knee and Ankle Joints—enable the Patient to walk, sit, or ride with ease and comfort, wherever amputated. They are lighter in weight, less expensive, and more durable than any self-acting Leg hitherto introduced, and are worn by Ladies and Children with perfect safety. They were awarded the highest medals at the London and Paris Great International Exhibitions, and pronounced by the Surgical Juries to be "excellent in manufacture, well constructed, and on a system superior to all others."

THE PRIZE MEDAL ARTIFICIAL EYES have now been brought to the greatest perfection, and are so easy of adaptation that they are fitted in a few minutes, without pain or operation, in any case where sight has been lost. The colours are perfectly matched, and a movement obtained precisely in accordance with the action of the natural eye. They are the only Artificial Eyes which have been awarded Prize Medals at the Great International Exhibitions of London, Paris, and Dublin.

Address to Mr. GROSSMITH, Manufactory, 175, Fleet Street, London.

ESTABLISHED 1760.

EVERY NURSE AND STUDENT
 Should, before providing themselves with a Fountain or Stylographic Pen, write for my Illustrated Price List of

Fitted with Iridium tipped 14 carat gold nibs from 8s. 6d. each plain, and 12s. 6d. each gold mounted. | Fitted with Platinum Point, Solid Gold Adjustable Needle and Spring from 4s. 6d. plain, and 6s. each, gold mounted.

I was the first in this country to introduce a really reliable Stylographic Pen at the low price of 4s. 6d., or a Fountain Pen, with a gold nib at 8s. 6d. For 1s. extra I supply a neat leather case (fitted with safety pin) to carry a pen, also a clinical thermometer, and which can be attached to any part of the dress preferable to the wearer. Pens can be exchanged at any time, or if not satisfactory after 14 days' trial money will be returned. I also have a full stock of the genuine "A. T. Cross" Pens, and will send price list, post free to any part of the world upon receipt of a post card addressed to

J. FUNNELL CHRISTIAN, 17, Paternoster Row, London, E.C.

previous page

next page