

THORNTON'S DISINFECTING TABLET.—This unique invention will be acceptable to all, particularly in the fact of its adaptability for attachment anywhere. It is in the form of a solid, oblong block of porous material, with which is incorporated a large amount of soluble, non-poisonous disinfectant. Around this is fastened a metallic strap, by which it can be secured to any tap, pipe, drain, or wherever it may be required. The tablet is automatic in its action, inasmuch as when it comes in contact with water, an equal portion of the disinfectant dissolves, without impairing the properties of the remainder. It will be found useful in many cases, such as for refreshing meat, fish, &c, this hot weather, or for use in the sick-room. Even in constant use, the average expenditure for this is estimated at one penny per week, though the tablets are "put up" in six-penny and shilling sizes.

MUNCHENER BURGERBRUN is the new Munich lager beer imported to this country by Mr. G. Walter Everth (3, Love Lane, Eastcheap), who claims for it, and very justly too, that it is a light, pure, refreshing, and nourishing stimulant for invalids who have sufficiently recovered to require such a tonic. It is manufactured from hops and malt only, according to the strict

Bavarian brewing laws. Having carefully tested it, we can answer for its palatable and invigorating qualities. We recommend it specially as a stimulant for convalescents, and seeing that it comes considerably under the five per cent. of alcohol that is allowed, it can be conscientiously introduced into "teetotal homes."

MESSRS. LYNCH AND Co. (Aldersgate Street, E.C.) have just issued a new illustrated catalogue, in which is given a full price list (which compares very favourably with those we have already seen) of all their surgical instruments, nurses' chate-laines, clinical thermometers, and all druggists' sundries. The blocks used for illustrating purposes are certainly very good. We recommend our professional friends to send for this catalogue.

ONWARD AND UPWARD.—Duncan and Son, 107a, Princes' Street, Edinburgh; and of R. Gibson, 51, Lime Street, London. June number, one penny. An interesting magazine of a healthy tone for young folk. It contains, amongst others, articles on British Columbian Experiences, a "Samoan Legend," "Bible Notes," and a chat on the subject of books for children. There are copious illustrations.

ROOT'S

CUCA
CHOCOLATE.

"Your Cuca Cocoa is, in my opinion, a most invaluable beverage. It is a nerve, blood, and muscle tonic of high value. It possesses remarkable restorative properties, as I can testify to from personal experience. It is a useful 'Pick Up' after illness. Its stimulating and nourishing properties render it extremely serviceable in the lying-in room, and I can strongly recommend its daily use to nursing mothers as a splendid milk-producer. It forms a capital diet for weakly children. In brief, it is the best preparation of Cocoa yet put upon the market.

"Yours faithfully—, M.R.C.P.E., &c."

"THE LANCET," Oct. 3rd, 1891.

"This is an excellent Cocoa. In this novel preparation there are contained two substances of very definite therapeutical value—a renowned restorative and a powerful stimulant and tonic."
