Adaptable to STEAM PANS, CONFECTIONERS' OVENS, and all kinds of FIRES

MR. W. T. STEAD, in the "REVIEW OF REVIEWS," March 15th, 1892, says:

"I speak of this range as I found it. If the range had turned out badly, I should have said so. As it worked well, I have great pleasure in testifying to the fact. If Marsh's Patent acts as satisfactorily when applied to other fires as it has done when applied to my own kitchen range, the days of fogs are numbered."

The "LANCET," March 5th, 1892, after having appointed a Special Commission to test the claims and merits of this Patent Range, says:

"The result is eminently satisfactory, and demonstrates clearly not only the fuel-economising effect of the system, but also that the production of soot is practically nil."
