

with constant stirring. It is then raised to boiling in steam-jacketed pans, is mixed with a known weight of white crystallised sugar, and is drawn up into vacuum pans, in which it is evaporated under constant skilled supervision. When the proper consistency is reached, it is drawn into churns and gradually cooled by slow rotation in cold water tanks, and is then ready for tinning, an operation entirely carried out in the factory, even to the making of the tins.

We are glad to find that an agreement of a stringent character must be entered into by farmers supplying the company, some of the important points being that no milk shall be supplied that is taken from cows in an unhealthy state or which are improperly fed (for example, on turnips, brewers' grains, etc.), or which are supplied with water of a doubtful quality.

In view of the fact, to which we recently called attention, that very large quantities of so-called "condensed milk," practically devoid of fat, are sold, it is of great importance to be able to rely on obtaining condensed milk containing its proper amount of fat, and not made with unwholesome sugars.

We are able to recommend the Anglo-Swiss Company's brands as being what they are represented to be, and as thoroughly reliable, says our influential Contemporary, The British Medical Journal.

Replies to Correspondents.

Mrs. Astor.—The Trained Nurse is in America, "the recognised organ of the Nursing profession," and can be obtained at this office, 376, Strand. It is a most interesting monthly journal, whose only fault, in the eyes of an English publisher, is that it reproduces whole articles from this and other journals without recognition or just acknowledgment.

Sister May.—We fear there is no chance of your expenses being paid, as we hear, for economy's sake, the work of installation will be largely done by residents. We should advise you to apply to Mrs. Fenwick, 20, Upper Wimpole Street, for information. For the convenience of visitors to Chicago during the forthcoming Exposition, a mammoth hotel is being erected by the World's Fair Co-operative Bureau. The hotel is in blocks, somewhat after the plan of St. Thomas's Hospital, and will contain over 6,000 rooms. These rooms will be let at a uniform rate of a dollar a day to those who pay a nominal registration fee beforehand, and thus secure the right of occupancy at any time during the Exposition. The sole representation of the World's Fair Co-operative Bureau in Great Britain has been placed in the hands of the City Press Agency, 1, King's Arms Yard, and 51, Coleman Street, London, E.C.—Mrs. Bond, 8402, Lake Avenue, Chicago, half a mile from the Exhibition Gates, and two minutes from the station, has also prepared rooms for ladies desirous of residing in Chicago during the Fair. Mrs. Bond is a gentlewoman, lately one of Her Majesty's Nursing Sisters, and residence in her pretty villa would be all that could be desired by women of refinement.

"An Indignant Sister-in-Law."—We will publish your letter. We should advise you to cease communicating anonymously with the Press; to bring your complaints before the House Committee of the London Hospital; from the Committee (if justice is not done) before the Governors; and (if howled down) then before the public, through the Press.

PUBLISHER'S NOTICES.

IMPORTANT.—We have received many complaints of the inability of our readers to obtain copies of the NURSING RECORD at the railway bookstalls of Messrs. W. H. Smith & Son. We suggest, therefore, (1) that orders be given to the bookstall clerk to obtain copies, and if he fails to do so, that the fact be reported to Messrs. W. H. Smith & Son, 186, Strand, W.C.; or (2) that the difficulty should be notified to us on a post-card, and we will have it rectified.
