The Secretary begs to remind Members that Annual Subscriptions are payable on or before January 1st, and that prompt payment saves the officials a great deal of extra labour in writing and sending out reminders, and saves the Association a great deal of expense in printing and postages.

Members are very earnestly asked to communicate AT ONCE any change in their addresses to the Secretary, as otherwise it is most difficult to send the Journals, and Notices of Meetings, etc., with the proper despatch.

DAISY ROBINS,

A MEETING of the Committee of the Home of Rest for Nurses at Brighton took place last week at 79, Harley Street, the residence of Lady JEUNE. Lady GEORGE HAMILTON took the Chair, and the Report was read by the Hon. Secretary, Mrs. BEDFORD FENWICK. The largely increased number of Nurses who have visited the Home this year, shows the continued popularity of the management under the able Matron, Mrs. MCINTYRE. No change has taken place amongst the domestic staff during the year, which is the surest sign of good organisation.

MESSRS. SAMPSON LOW, MARSTON & Co. have in the press, for publication in January, "A Manual of Obstetric Nursing," by MARIA HUMFREY, of the British Lying-In Hospital, London, which has already appeared in this Journal in serial form. The author is a Member of the Royal British Nurses' Association and lately a Member also of its Registration Board, and holds the diploma of the London Obstetric Society. The work will be dedicated to H.R.H. the Duchess of TECK, and should be in the possession of every trained Nurse, as it is the most exhaustive and most practical work upon the subject.

THE Glasgow Training Home for Nurses has received from Lady BURNS, of Castle Wemyss, a very handsome donation, which will enable the directors to make a much-needed extension of the Institution. The Hon. Lady-Superintendent, Miss M'ALPIN, was last week presented with an illuminated address and silver tea service from over a hundred Nurses, "as a tangible expression of their love"; Miss JESSIE M'ALPIN receiving at the same time her portrait; among those who witnessed the double presentation being Sir JOHN and Lady BURNS, Lord OVERTOUN, and Lord Provost BELL.
