Miss Whitmore Jones, Chastleton.—Your letter will appear next week.

Miss Marion Pincoffs, Dunster.—Nursing matters are progressive. What was considered ample training ten years ago is sadly insufficient to-day; in another decade, the present reformers will, perhaps, be on the shelf, labelled "Tory Party." And again, all Nurses are not suitable by disposition for the very arduous, responsible, and exhausting duties of private nursing. A thoroughly good private Nurse is the very highest type of Nurse.

E. M.—We believe you will get a thoroughly good training at the institution you mention.

T. S., Poplar.—Will try and obtain the regulations of the Society for you.

Miss Alice Davy, Highgate.—The course begins in October. Apply to the Secretary, 17, Old Cavendish Street, W. You will find all the information you require in the Nursing Directory. It can be obtained from the publishers, 376, Strand. As you are under the age for admittance as Probationer, to a General Hospital, you could not do better than attend the whole course of R.B.N.A. lectures. You will find the knowledge thus acquired of great use in your future career.

Sister Alice, Eastbourne.—The liberal-minded Editor inserts both sides of a question, and not merely the views which coincide with his own; otherwise the liberty of the Press would develop into tyranny, and become an impediment, and not an aid, to progress. An editor should be, as far as possible, an impersonal machine.
