

some quite unimportant "Institution" may be placed on it. It is perfectly certain that the leading Hospital Matrons who already disapprove of the management of the Association will be still further repelled by such a provision. Irreparable injury would be caused to the Association and its work, while the Bye-Law would enable the officials to place on the General Council and Executive Committee nurses of no standing or influence, who could do nothing but confirm any proceedings taken by the officials.

Appointments.

MATRON.

MISS CAROLINE WALKER has been appointed Matron of St. Cross Hospital, Rugby. Miss Walker received her training at the Victoria Hospital for Children and at the London Hospital, and afterwards acted as Sister at the Colonial Hospital, Gibraltar, and at the Government Civil Hospital, Hong Kong.

MISS EVELYN HURLBATT has been appointed Matron of the Memorial Hospital, Kendall. Miss Hurlbatt was trained at Guy's Hospital, and subsequently held the post of matron of the Reynard Cottage Hospital, near Gainsborough. Recently Miss Hurlbatt has been doing sister's duties at Guy's.

MISS ANNIE T. LUNN has been appointed Lady Superintendent of the Northamptonshire Nursing Institution. Miss Lunn was trained at the Macclesfield General Infirmary, and afterwards acted as Assistant Nurse at the West London Hospital, and extra Staff Nurse at St. Thomas's Hospital. Miss Lunn then received training in District Nursing at the Central Home of the Metropolitan and National Nursing Association, Bloomsbury, and subsequently worked for two years as Queen's Nurse at Northampton, and two years at Chertsey, at a branch of H.R.H. Princess Christian's Home. Miss Lunn has also had charge of the Victoria Nurses' Home, Huddersfield, where she organized the district nursing. She resigns this post to take up the Superintendence of the Northampton Nursing Institution.

HOME SISTER.

WE learn from the London Hospital Gazette that Miss Arnot, formerly Linen Room Assistant at the London Hospital, has been appointed Home Sister at the Metropolitan Hospital, and that Miss Bessie Thorpe, late Staff Nurse of the Queen Ward at the London Hospital, has been appointed Sister at the Metropolitan. It will be remembered that Miss Cave, for many years an Office Sister at the London, was appointed as locum tenens Matron at the Metropolitan, during Miss Kingsford's sick leave, and that upon the expiration of the six months' leave, the Committee elected to supersede Miss Kingsford and appointed Miss Cave, Matron of the Metropolitan Hospital.

SISTER.

MISS MARY GLENTON KERR has been appointed sister of the men's wards at St. Mark's Hospital, City Road. Miss Glenton Kerr was trained at the Leeds General Infirmary.

NIGHT SUPERINTENDENT.

MISS ISABELLA GREWER has been appointed Night Superintendent at the Cumberland Infirmary, Carlisle. She was trained at the Royal Infirmary, Aberdeen, where she remained for four and a half years. Miss Grewer, after six months' experience of private nursing, had charge, for nine months, of the Convalescent Hospital in connection with the Aberdeen Infirmary, and since October last, has held the position of Sister of the Women and Children's accident wards, at the General Hospital, Wolverhampton.

SUPERINTENDENT NURSE.

MISS ANNIE BEVERLEY has been appointed Superintendent Nurse of the Gordon Road Workhouse, Peckham. Miss Beverley was trained at the Middlesex Hospital, where she has been as Probationer and Staff Nurse for three and a half years. Miss Beverley is a Registered Nurse.

MISS MARY E. BEAUMONT has been appointed Superintendent Nurse in charge of the Nursing Home, City of London Infirmary, Bow. Miss Beaumont was trained at the Brownlow Hill Infirmary, Liverpool. She has gained experience in private nursing at the Nurses' Institute, Bournemouth, and has been a Queen's Nurse for four years, so that her experience is varied.

MISS M. M. WRAY has been appointed Superintendent Nurse at the Barrow Workhouse Infirmary. Miss Wray was trained at the Liverpool Royal Infirmary, and subsequently held the position of Charge Nurse at Fir Vale Infirmary, Sheffield, for two years, after which she was appointed Superintendent Nurse at the City of London Infirmary, a post which she resigns to take up the position of Superintendent Nurse at the Barrow Workhouse Infirmary.
