

"We are told that a Register of Trained Nurses would do untold harm, that nurses once registered would be always registered. I do not think that those who advance this objection sufficiently realise that 'once certificated is always certificated.' Has anyone ever heard of a certificate once conferred being withdrawn? A nurse who failed seriously in her obligations would not be always registered, because it would be possible, for sufficient cause, to remove her name from the Register. Thus the public would be in a better position than they are at present with certificated nurses. I ask you to remember that reforms are not initiated by the great and mighty. I know of no reform measure taken up enthusiastically by large numbers, but our cause is founded on justice and righteousness, and will ultimately triumph. There is much hard work before us, and much money needed, for nothing can be done without money, so I ask you to relieve the Treasurer of financial anxiety. But I am perfectly certain, I am as sure as that the sun will rise tomorrow, that eventually, for the whole of the British Empire, there will be established a State Register of Trained Nurses."

The next business was the election of new members, and it was proposed by Mrs. Bedford Fenwick, and seconded by the Chairman, that the following eighty-seven applicants, whose qualifications were in order, should be elected as members:—
