

states that the charges made to him in respect of three days' fees in a nursing home were £10 14s. 3d., in addition to £2 18s. 2d. for dressings, chemist, and other extras at the home, total £13 12s. 5d. We are well aware that skilled nursing is expensive, but the system so much in vogue now of letting lodgings to patients and not providing a permanent staff of nurses, so that a high charge must be made for nurses, is not one which is satisfactory to the public, and we believe eventually will result in the home hospital nursing of better class patients being organised in paying hospitals financed on the co-operative principle, and that this branch of work will thus sumption. They state the work is in its infancy when help is most needed. When it is remembered that the Sanatorium is in charge of Miss Marian Rumball, for so many years Sister of the Children's Ward at the London Homœopathic Hospital, it will be realised that every penny will be utilised to the best advantage, and that the children will be thoroughly cared for and happy. Subscriptions and donations may be sent to Mr. T. H. Wyatt, M.V.O., Hon. Secretary, at the office, 68, Denison House, Vauxhall Bridge Road, S.W.

Our illustration of the English Sanatorium at Leysin, which is reached by electric railway pass out of the hands of individual nurses for whom it should provide remunerative and interesting employment.

The English Sanatorium, Leysin.

It is fitting that the nurse chosen to attend Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman should be a Scotswoman, and the one selected is Miss Stott, who was trained at the Royal Infirmary, Dundee, and is a native of Deeside, Aberdeenshire.

The Committee of the Children's Sanatorium at Holt, in Norfolk, are appealing for funds to help on this national work for children suffering from tuberculosis, who are not admitted to the ordinary sanatoria for con-from Aigle in the Rhone Valley, shows the beautiful situation of this health resort, which bids fair to rival Davos for the treatment of phthisical patients. There are now many sanatoria, in which patients can receive the most up-to-date treatment in air of wonderful purity, and in surroundings of exceptional loveliness in Leysin and its vicinity.

The Lady Hermione Blackwood, President of the Ulster Branch of the Irish Nurses' Association, has returned from a delightful trip to the West Indies.

The Bulletin Professional for February de-

previous page

next page