IN MEMORIAM.

A window, representing St. Elizabeth in robes of purple and grey, symbolical of royalty and humility, ministering to the sick and poor, has been placed in the chapel of the Bristol Royal Infirmary. Mr. Arnold Robinson, of Bristol, is the designer, and the cost was defrayed by gifts from past and present nurses, members of the honorary staff, and the committee. It is dedicated to the memory of eight nurses who have within recent years died while in the service of the infirmary.

Nursing Echoes.

We are glad to learn that nurses are rousing themselves about the National Insurance Bill, and that it is probable there will be a very full meeting on Monday evening to hear Mr. D. F. Pennant explain the position in so far as the Bill affects them. As space is limited at 11, Chandos Street, Cavendish Square, those who wish for seats will be wise to be in time. The meeting is at 8 p.m.

Princess Christian, who is President, attends a tea to be given to the patients of the Royal Free Hospital, Gray's Inn Road, on Thursday in this week, and opens the new shelter and other improvements in the Quadrangle.

Miss Amy Downey requests the pleasure of the company of nurses who may have stayed with her, on Monday, July 10th, from 3 to 6 p.m., at the new Residential Home for Nurses, 44, Norfolk Square, W., it being the first anniversary of the Home. There will be music and palmistry. Mr. Louis Dick will speak on the Royal National Pension Fund at 8.30 p.m., when Miss Downey cordially invites nurses to be present.

We are informed that in addition to the nurses on duty inside Westminster Abbey at the solemnity of the Coronation those on the stands in Parliament Square were furnished by University College Hospital and the Middlesex Hospital.

A very pleasant garden party was given on Tuesday by the Governors and Medical Staff of Guy's Hospital, S.E., on the occasion of the distribution of medals and prizes to the students by the Right Hon. Alfred Lyttelton, K.C., M.P. Miss Haughton the Matron, is always a charming hostess, and the members of the nursing staff have a special interest in this party, which is an annual one, as they receive invitations to send to their friends. It was quite evident that many had responded, for the Sisters and Nurses were happy and busy doing the honours of their Alma Mater. The portrait of Miss Swift, the late Matron, a gift by a nurse who desires to be anonymous, attracted much attention. It is well hung in the nurses' dining-room, and Miss Swift is pictured in the uniform in which the nurses were wont to see her daily—a simple
