Nurses on Parade.

WHEN SIR ERNEST ROCK CARLING, LL.D., F.R.C.P., F.R.C.S., declared open the new Radiotherapy Centre at Purdysburn Fever Hospital, Belfast, recently, nurses provided a guard of honour.

Dame Dehra Parker, Minister of Health in the Northern Ireland Government, inspected the guard of honour, and was presented with a bouquet by Nurse J. M. M'Auley.

"In Man's Most Dark Extremity."

On behalf of our readers we cannot express too clearly our great sympathy with those who have experienced the terrible sufferings caused by the raging tempests which struck our coasts during the disastrous week-end, January 31st to February 2nd.

In this hour of the victims' need we feel that everyone who has escaped this terrible ordeal should give everything they possibly can in both cash and kind to bring to them some comfort in their desolation.
