

“Scrubbing-up is hard on one’s hands!”

BE FAIR to your hands, Nurse. They can be kept smooth, really smooth, despite antiseptic fluids, constant scrubbings-up, and all the rigours of theatre, hospital or clinic—keep NIVEA handy, smooth it in always after washing, and be proud of pretty hands on rough days as well as smooth!

A Cup of Tea.

WE HAVE BEEN MUCH gratified recently to find that the firm of Joseph Tetley & Co., Ltd., London, provide packets of tea made up in little bags.

These little bags of tea are most economical in use, and quick and handy for busy people; one bag making a pot for two persons or one good strong large cup—they eliminate all loose tea leaves in cup and pot, and are of particular appeal to the Nursing Profession who often have occasion to make a quick cup of tea at odd hours.

Clean and hygienic, one just has to drop the bag in the teapot and remove with a spoon when brewed.

For the price of 1s. 3d. a packet contains 16 bags of Orange Pekoe and Pekoe Cut Black Tea.

Letters to the Editor.

Miss Bryson,
British Journal of Nursing,
Dear Miss Bryson,

13th January, 1954

We thank you most warmly for the publicity you gave our Christmas cards this season. Your generous support has resulted in another record year, and we are so grateful and encouraged.

During the last few years we have received substantial legacies from subscribers who first became interested in the Mission’s work through the purchase of Christmas cards. Thus, apart from the immediate benefit your help brings, it has far-reaching consequences upon Labrador and her people, which we deeply appreciate.

Yours sincerely,
B. H. Seabrook,
Secretary.
