

Comments and Replies.

LETTERS RECEIVED.

REPLIES.

S. B., Manchester.—How about your appearance? Many people, and very wisely, judge greatly by a Nurse's outward appearance. Is her hair neat? do her garments fit? and are they harmonious? are questions that must always be answered in the affirmative. If, as you say, your testimonials are excellent, and you find, after a personal interview, you do not receive the posts you seek, you must examine yourself. Are your manners courteous? Very often an aggressive manner gives great offence. From your letter we should imagine you demand what you desire (excuse our plain speaking); but it is not the way to succeed if you are in a dependent position—the world will only be trodden on by a golden hoof.

Miss Carey, London.—We should advise you to attend the Royal British Nurses' Association's Course of Lectures on Anatomy, by Mr. Walsham (see page 333), at 3, Hanover Square; it is much more central than going to the East End.

Miss Francis, York.—The exhibits have not yet returned from Chicago. We shall be pleased to comply with your request when they are unpacked. Many of the most interesting have been sold. A complete set of bandages would cost £2. We have in contemplation the organization of a scheme similar to that proposed by you, and shall be glad of your kind help a little later on.

- B. Miss S. Beverley, Cairo. S. B., Manchester.
- C. Miss Curtis, London (with enclosure); Miss Constance Clarke, Biarritz. Miss Carey London.
- D. Miss Charlotte Davis, Dublin.
- E. Miss Maud Earl, London (with enclosure).
- F. Mrs. Fawcett, Edinburgh. Miss Francis, York.
- G. Miss C. J. Gillett, Brisbane, Australia; Mrs. Gordon, London (with enclosure).
- H. Mr. Hawkins-Ambler, Liverpool; Miss Hembledon.
- J. Miss C. Janvrin, Chiswick; Miss Joyce Lancaster, (with enclosure).
- K. Miss Karstairs, Doncaster.
- M. Miss Elizabeth Marsland, Carlton, Australia (with enclosure); Dr. Lewis W. Marshall, Nottingham.
- O. Miss M. Overton, Elgin, N. B.; Miss Owen-Bullen, London (with enclosure).
- P. Miss Patterson, Huntingdon (with enclosure).
- R. Mrs. Roberts-Austen, London (with enclosure); Mrs. Rose, London (with enclosure).
- S. Miss Lillian C. Smythe, Tangier.
- T. Miss Tomkins, Belfast; Miss Terry, London.
- W. Mrs. Westlake, London; Miss A. Watkins, Mentone.

MARZA WINE.

A sound Port wine combined with IRON to enrich the Blood; Phosphorus, the recognised Brain recuperative; Coca to sustain the Frame; and Pepsine, to assist Digestion. Recommended by the Faculty for Anæmia; Insomnia; Nervous, Mental, and General Debility; Neuralgia; Indigestion; Voice Fatigue, etc.; and for Convalescents after Influenza, Accouchement, etc.

Marza Wine is admitted by all to be THE most Scientific IRON and COCA Wine.

MARZA MEAT
AND MALT WINE.

A perfectly sound Port Wine combined with the nutritious principles (in a soluble form) of the juice of English Beef, and the finest Extract of Malt. A scientific preparation superior in every respect to similar Wines on the market, free from Tannin, and the sickly mawkish taste noticeable in other Malt Wines. The most valuable Nutritive and Stimulative Restorative for Delicate Women, Convalescents and Growing Children.

Special Report in the "Lancet," July 1st, 1893.

"The Marza Wine is agreeable to the palate and is valuable not merely as a stimulant but also as a Tonic, from the presence of a considerable quantity of Iron. The formula of Marza Wine is a commendable one and thoughtfully planned.

The "MARZA" Wines have been awarded the Gold Medal for Palatability, Purity, and general Excellence.

Price 3s. 9d. per Bottle, 42s. per doz. Of all Chemists, Stores, Grocers, Wine Merchants, etc., or Carriage Paid of

The MARZA CO., Ltd., 19 & 21, Wilson St., Finsbury, E.C.

SAMPLE BOTTLES FREE TO THE PROFESSION ON RECEIPT OF CARD.

previous page

next page