REPLIES TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Nurse Reade.—We are always glad to help our readers by giving advice as to entering Training Schools, &c., but we are unable, unless we have personal knowledge and interest in them, to get them employment. We should advise you to let all your Hospital friends know that you will be free in another month, and it would be as well to advertise your requirements. We wish you success in gaining a suitable appointment.

Miss Brown.—You will find your invention noticed in this issue.

Miss Eckroyd.—We are pleased to hear you like the paper so much, and are sorry we cannot grant your request. The fact that you are "a regular subscriber" does not entitle us to sign your admission paper to the Training School you are about to enter. The rector of your parish or your doctor, or any responsible person who is acquainted with you, would doubtless give you the necessary assistance.

"County Council Lecturer."—We have received several letters on this subject, which must stand over till next week. We quite agree that it is extremely hard for thoroughly trained Nurses and competent lecturers to be met on all sides with competition from so-called "teachers," who are themselves sometimes not even Probationers. We hope to publish your letter next week.
