

and will eat. It is impossible to keep up the health of the Nursing Staff unless they are properly fed, and surely it is not too much to ask that those who have the care of them should do all in their power to effect this. A Matron should aim at being a mother to her Nurses—teaching them, guiding them, and caring for them in all things, small as well as great; and in those Hospitals where such a relationship exists, not only are the Nurses better cared for, but the work is better done.—I am, Sir, yours faithfully,

FLORENCE MEYRICK, Lady Superintendent.
Establishment for Gentlewomen,
