

Infirmery, where she held the position of Head of the Female Wards, and gained the goodwill and esteem of those with whom she was brought into contact. For some years past, Miss Nicholson has been private nursing.

MISS ETHEL GRAY has been appointed Lady Superintendent of the "Rest" Convalescent Home, Porthcawl. Miss Gray received her training at the Royal Infirmery, Edinburgh, and has held the position of Matron of the Ulverston Hospital.

MISS SARAH KILGALLEN has been appointed Night Superintendent on the female side at the Poplar and Stepney Sick Asylum. Miss Kilgallen was trained at the General Infirmery, Sheffield, and, for the last eighteen months, has held the position of Charge Nurse at the Fountain Fever Hospital. She has also had some experience of private nursing.

MISS LYDIA EDWARDES has been appointed Night Superintendent at the Homœopathic Hospital, Great Ormond Street. Miss Edwardes received her training at this hospital, and has for some years been Staff Nurse of Barton Ward, where she has done excellent work, and has gained many friends, who will congratulate her on her well merited promotion.

The League of St. Bartholomew's Nurses.

THE following nurses have joined the League of St. Bartholomew's Nurses during December and January:—Miss Maria Moore, Miss Kathleen Strouts, Miss Margaret Cooper, Miss Marian Bowers, Miss B. A. Rickett, Miss Waters, Miss Lewis, Miss Emily Jones (Matron, Holborn Union Infirmery), Miss Florence Smedley (Matron, St. George's Hospital), Miss Frances Spencer (Matron, Thomas Walker Convalescent Hospital, Parramatta, New South Wales), Miss Shipman, Miss M. Anderson, Miss Ramsay Gibson, Miss Edith Heath, Miss E. M. Ambrose (Cape Town), Miss Sayle, Miss E. D. Bauke, Miss E. Birch.

It is significant of the popularity of the League that, within the first six months of its existence, nearly three hundred graduates of the School should have joined it. The fact that the applications for membership are made from all parts of the world proves not only the widespread influence of the School, but also that those who were trained within the walls of "dear old Barts" do not, in the midst of new interests and duties, forget their Alma Mater, but welcome the opportunity now afforded them of keeping in touch with their former colleagues.

Army Nursing Notes.

WE publish below the list of names of the staff of the Yeomanry Hospital, all proceeding, at an early date, to South Africa. It is a comprehensive list, and we note with pleasure that a far greater number of trained Nursing Sisters have been attached to the hospital than the regulation number per bed arranged by the War Office, a number far too limited to cope with the nursing of the sick soldier in an efficient manner. It is also the first hospital to which a staff of ward-maids has been attached.
