

Infectious Diseases.—DR. T. R. BROWN.

1. General considerations.—Common modes of contagion.—Immunity to disease.
2. Prevention and limitation of contagious diseases. — Isolation. — Disinfection. — General treatment.—Hydrotherapy.
3. Typhoid fever.
4. Scarlet fever, measles, small-pox and other exanthemata.
5. Diphtheria and allied affections.
6. Asiatic cholera, amœbic dysentery, leprosy, glanders, etc., and other less common infectious diseases.

Tuberculosis.—DR. PARFITT.Malarial Fever.—DR. THAYER.The Urine.—DR. MCCRAE.

1. A consideration of the anatomy and physiology of the urinary organs.
2. Elementary analysis of urine. [Practical instruction will be given to the class in sections.]
3. Nursing in uræmia, Bright's disease, etc., and other diseases of the urinary organs.

Gynæcological Lectures.—Drs. Russell and Ramsay.

1. Pelvic anatomy.—Preparation of patients for examination.
2. Preparation of patients for abdominal operations.—After care.
3. Inflammatory diseases of the pelvis, and diseases of the ovaries.—Their causes and treatment.
4. Menstruation and its disorders.—Diseases of the uterus—their causes and treatment.
5. Diseases of the vagina and genitalia. Preparation of patients for minor operations.—After care.

Massage.—MISS BARTLETT.

A full course of practical instruction in massage during October and November.

SENIOR LECTURES.

Obstetrics.—DR. DOBBIN.

1. Anatomy. Organs concerned in pregnancy and parturition. The pelvis and soft parts.
2. Physiology of Pregnancy. The development of the uterus. The placenta. Changes in the maternal organism incident to pregnancy. Diagnosis of pregnancy. Rules for the calculation of the probable duration of pregnancy. Condition of the pelvic organs at term.
3. Hygiene of Pregnancy. Diet, exercise, care of bowels, breasts, etc. Vomiting of pregnancy. Albuminuria. Death of foetus in utero.

4. Labor. Presentations and positions of the child. Mechanism of labor. Preparation of the patient for normal labor.
5. The child and its care.
6. Management of the mother during the puerperium.
7. Obstetrical emergencies during pregnancy, labor and the puerperium.

Children.—DR. BOOKER.

1. Care of Infants.—Condition of the child immediately after birth; (1) general appearance, (2) bony framework, (3) internal organs, (4) changes in the blood circulation, (5) establishment of pulmonary respiration.
2. Infancy. (1) Growth and development of infants, (2) physiological peculiarities, (3) tendency to disease, (4) great mortality.
3. Care of healthy infants. (1) Handling, (2) bathing, (3) clothing, (4) sleep, (5) exercise, (6) the nursery.
4. Infant-feeding. (1) In health, (2) in sickness.

Some Constitutional Diseases.—DR. FUTCHER.

Four lectures on the following subjects: Rheumatic affections; arthritis deformans and gout; diabetes mellitus and insipidus; rickets, scurvy, purpura, etc.

General Medicine.—DR. BARKER.

1. The anatomy of the nervous system.
2. Physiology of the nervous system.
3. Nursing in diseases of the nervous system.

Insanity.—DR. HURD.

1. The care of the nervous and insane.
2. Management of special forms of insanity.
3. Occupation for the invalid and convalescent.

Electro-Therapeutics.—DR. THOMAS.

Practical application of electricity.

Diseases of the Skin.—DR. GILCHRIST.

1. Anatomy and care of the skin.
2. Nursing in diseases of the skin.

Diseases of the Eye and Ear.—DR. THEOBALD.

1. Anatomy of the eye, care in health and disease.
2. Care of eyes after operations.
3. Anatomy of the ear, care in health and disease.

Diseases of the Throat and Nose.—DR. WARFIELD.

1. Diseases of the throat and nose.
2. Treatment and nursing of diseases of throat and nose.

previous page

next page