Examinations and Prizes.

BRISTOL GENERAL HOSPITAL.

The distribution of prizes gained by the nursing staff in connection with the recent examination at the General Hospital, Bristol, was an impressive occasion. Mr. J. Storrs Fry presided, and wished every possible success to the prize winners, and also to those who had not obtained any special distinction. A cordial welcome was given to the new Matron, Miss Densham, and it was stated that during the past year the nursing staff had carried out their duties with devotion and ability.

The prizes were distributed as follow:—Gold medal, Miss Holborow; silver medal, Nurse Rosetta Cox; 1st physiology, Nurse A. Morgan; 2nd physiology, Nurse Dascombe; 1st anatomy, Nurse Yeo; 2nd anatomy, Nurse Dennis; 1st for medical nursing, Nurse Parsons; 2nd for medical nursing, Nurse Rivington; 1st surgical training, Nurse Parsons; 2nd surgical training, Nurse Coaker; certificates of efficiency, Nurses Golding and Slater.

RESIGNATIONS.

The resignation of Miss Cherry of the position of Secretary of the Irish Nurses' Association has been received with regret by her numerous colleagues. Much work has fallen to her lot during her term of office, which has covered the past four years, during which time there has been continuous work for State Registration, and at least one active campaign in its support. When, upon the action of the Irish Office, Irish nurses were, without their knowledge, omitted from the privileges of Registration on the discussion of Lord Amptill's Bill in the House of Lords, a campaign was started which ended by their triumphant inclusion, owing to the prompt action of the Irish Nurses Association.

At the recent meeting of the Scottish Nurses' Association, held in Glasgow, Sir William Macewen, the President, moved, and it was seconded by Miss E. A. Stevenson, that a warm vote of thanks be sent to Miss McNeillie for her services as Hon. Secretary to the Association since its inception. This was carried unanimously. In the short time in which she has held office Miss McNeillie's work has been appreciated by the members, to whose inquiries she has always most courteously replied. With Miss E. A. Stevenson and Miss K. Burleigh, Miss McNeillie helped to draft the first suggested constitution of a Scottish Nurses' Association in the spring of this year.
