

Practical Points.

We have pleasure in directing the attention of our readers to a pocket nebulizer, supplied by Messrs. Rouse and Co., manufacturing and dispensing chemists, 12, Wigmore Street, London, W.

The nebulizer has the advantages of being serviceable, simple, compact, and inexpensive, the price complete being 4s. 6d., or, with throat piece, 6d. extra. It is the only instrument of the kind which nebulises both oil and water, and it can also be used for spirit or glycerine. It also produces a spray sufficiently fine to be easily inhaled by either the mouth or nose, and can be supplied in a plush lined leather case, and used without removal from it. It is convenient for using in connection with a remedy for Hay Fever and Catarrhal Asthma, supplied by Messrs. Rouse for use as ordered by the physician, as it is so small that it can be carried in the pocket and used when required.

Nurses should note that Messrs. Rouse offer them a special discount on all goods supplied which results in a very substantial saving on dressings, appliances, and indeed all articles purchased from them.

The appended illustration of the "Shaw" Inhaler shows its conspicuous advantages over an inhaler of the old type.

It is, moreover, easily cleaned, there are no parts to get lost, and no tubes to be broken. It can be used by persons of all ages, from the child to the aged, and those who have once used it are not likely to return to the more old-fashioned forms.

The principle adopted is to admit the inspired air close to the surface of the hot water.

It may be obtained from 89, Farringdon Street, London, E.C.
