In Memoriam.

The Bulletin Professionnel des Infirmières et Gardes-Malades from Paris offers its condolences on the death of Miss Isla Stewart "nous l'avions vue en France à la Conférence de 1907, et son souvenir était resté parmi nous comme celui d'une personnalité remarquable autant que sympathique. A sa famille, à ses amis, à la grande famille des infirmières d'Angleterre, nous adressons nos condoléances les plus sincères pour une perte si vivement ressentie."

A touching memorial notice appears in Svensk Sjukskötersketidning, the Swedish Nurses' Journal, by the editor, Miss Estrid Rodhe, who met Miss Stewart during the week of the International Congress of Nurses last year, and had the opportunity of knowing her personally during that happy time.

Miss M. Eugénie Hibbard, who, also with the two delegates of the Cuban Government, Miss Margarita Nuñez and Miss Mercedes Monteagudo, attended the International Congress of Nurses last year, writes: "It is difficult to realise that one who so recently took an active part in the International Congress of Nurses has passed from our midst. I always associated great strength of character with her, and the line from George Eliot's "Choir Invisible" has come into my mind:—

"The cup of strength to some in their great agony."
