Nurses Goodge, K. Johnson, F. Johnson, D. Shand, Nankivell, Cordell, Green, Macdonald, McAteer and M. Shand have passed their final examinations and been awarded certificates after three years' training.

Dr. James Cantlie, the examiner, sent a most favourable report about the nurses' work to the Matron, and added: "I must congratulate you upon the fine body of trained nurses you brought up for examination."

When the State Examination is in force how satisfactory for these efficient nurses to have their qualifications legally registered. They deserve this distinction from the untrained.
