THE EXHIBITION.

The Lady Mayoress of Birmingham, Mrs. Martineau, supported by many influential people, will open at 3 p.m. on Tuesday, June 9th, a most interesting Exhibition, in which trained nurses have taken an active part, and at which also many first class firms will bring their special appliances and manufactures to the notice of the nursing profession and the public.

THE BRITISH JOURNAL OF NURSING, as the official organ of the National Council will be well to the fore. Nurses will find THE BRITISH JOURNAL Stand at the head of the stairs, where nursing literature and pamphlets will also be on sale. Inside the Large Hall our JOURNAL will also have a stand on the platform, where the Nurses' Loan Exhibits will no doubt attract every visitor to the Hall. Amongst the Nurses' exhibits there and in Room H will be:

Models illustrating the Training of a Nurse, organised by the General Hospital, Birmingham, Nurses' League.

An Exhibit by the Queen's Hospital, Birmingham.

Model of the Open Air Ward of the Women's Hospital, at Sparkhill, shown by the Nursing Staff.

Exhibit of Orthopædic work by the Orthopædic Hospital, Birmingham.

Exhibits of Eye Dressings, by the Eye Hospital, Birmingham.

The National Union of Trained Nurses are showing model of Train and of Hospital Tents, V.A.D. and Territorial Plan, Models of Rashers, Models of Faces, Room before and after the advent of the District Nurse, Historic Dolls, Model Baby and Model Clothes for Baby, and Posters.

Lord Mayor Treloar's Cripples' Hospital, Alton, will have on view Stand and Splint for treatment of Spinal Caries, Celluloid Splint, and Spinal Jacket, and Linen marked by machinery.

Several of the Nurses' Leagues are contributing exhibits of interest—St. Bartholomew's, Splints; the Royal Free, the Digestive Tract exhibit; the Chelsea Infirmary, typical Nurses' Uniform Dolls.

The following hospitals are also showing specially useful nursing appliances; the Royal Ear Hospital,

London, Ear Dressings; Moorfields Hospital, Eye Dressings, &c.; Plaistow Fever Hospital, the Barrier Nurse in special uniform, and the barrier gown; and the Royal Infirmary, Manchester, Mask to be worn after operation for adenoids and excision of tonsils.

Radiographs will be exhibited by Dr. Hall Edwards.

St. Chrystopher's Nursery College will show the most practical basket for open air treatment for Babies.

In Room A the Nurses' Missionary League will show a Hospital Model, and Medical appliances in use in foreign lands, photos and maps illustrating the countries in which the League has representatives, and the people among whom they work. Interesting literature on the subject obtainable at the stall, which will be in charge of Miss M. R. Hawkins, Secretary of the Association of Nursing Superintendents in India, herself a worker in the Mission field.

In this room will also be found work done by the patients at Monyhull Epileptic Colony.

The Conference Secretary will be found in Room B. Rooms C and D will contain Exhibits from the City of Birmingham

Public Health Department, organised by Miss Beatrice Gardiner and Miss N. T. Gray. (a) Room C, illustrations of work done by fully trained Nurses as Tuberculosis visitors. (b) Room D, illustrations of work done by fully trained Nurses as Health Visitors, and Infant Health Visitors, and Inspector of Midwives.
