

parts of the country. These arrangements are working very well.

Quarter-Master Sergeant Williams, of the 2nd Suffolk, had displayed great bravery at the Battle of the Marne, where he was badly wounded, having part of his leg shot away. He secured a trophy of war in the shape of a German artillery officer's helmet, which he carried strapped to his haversack for four days before being wounded. Our picture shows the brave sergeant showing his trophy to his nurses at the 5th Northern General Hospital, at Leicester.

A sum of £3,000 is required to equip the five newly-renovated wards at Charing Cross Hospital, opened for the use of our wounded soldiers.

FOR CANADIANS.

Canadians at home are looking after the welfare of the troops to come. The Canadian War Contingent Association has accepted the generous offer of Sir Arthur and Lady Markham to give their residence, Beachborough Park, Shorncliffe, for their use as a hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Moat are lending Johnson Hall, near Eccleshall, for convalescent soldiers, fitted with light beds and Red Cross Nurses.

Mrs. Arnoldi has given her house, 47, Roland Gardens, S.W., to the Association, to be used as an officers' hospital; fifteen beds have been provided. Subscriptions and stores are required.

Clothing, bed, and household linen, medical and surgical requisites, bandages and dressings are urgently needed for the Queen's Canadian Military Hospital at Shorncliffe. Such things as flannel shirts, pyjamas, dressing gowns, bed socks, slippers, and nightshirts, will be gratefully received. Further particulars can be obtained from Mrs. McLaren Brown, Hon. Sec., 36, Sloane Court, S.W.

THE AMERICAN "RED CROSS" CONTINGENT.

GREETINGS FROM THE NURSES.

The beautiful American "Red Cross" ship came into Falmouth Harbour on Thursday last week, bringing 12 units of doctors and nurses for service in all countries which are at war, 2 units to be sent to England, France, Germany, Austria and Russia. On Friday we received a letter from Miss Helen Scott Hay, sending "Greetings from the American Red Cross Nurses just landed at Falmouth. It has been a most interesting trip over, and now is given beautiful days for seeing this part of lovely England, till we are permitted to proceed on our way. I go to Russia via Dundee and Gothenberg, so fear may not see you. I shall give a card to one of the groups to be left in England, so that they may meet you. With warmest greetings."

Miss Hay left for Russia with two units on Thursday, with all the good wishes from her English sisters she deserves, the National Council of Trained Nurses presenting her with a bouquet of English flowers. Already twelve of the American nurses are on duty at the American Hospital established at Oldway House, Paignton, the beautiful seat of Mr. Paris Singer, who has lent it to the American women in England. The hospital is under the auspices of the Red Cross Society, and as 300 wounded men arrived there last Sunday, and a second contingent of 150 or Tuesday, the American nurses are just in time to lend a hand. As only twelve can be accommodated at Paignton, the others will probably go to Netley. Lady Paget, who is the President of the American Red Cross Corps of Nurses, informs us that a boat will leave for the Continent this week under the charge of Major Patterson. That two units (twelve nurses and three surgeons) will be landed in France, Germany, and Austria, and will proceed to all the fighting areas. Other American nurses are coming over with Dr. Neale.
