CARE OF THE WOUNDED.

Queen Mary has graciously contributed £50 to Princess Victoria's Auxiliary Committee of ladies working on behalf of the Y.M.C.A. recreation huts at the base camps in France, which are proving such a boon to our men.

Many more doctors are required by the War Office for service with the troops. Accordingly a communication has been sent to the medical profession by the Government requesting one-third of all the doctors in the country under the age of 45 to volunteer their services between now and Christmas.

It is estimated that during the first twelve months of war, voluntary gifts to the value of at least £25,000,000 were made in money and kind in the United Kingdom alone, says the Hospital Saturday Fund Journal. These gifts do not seem to have diminished the permanent charities, some of which have received more than in years of peace.
