

HATS.

Do you want a new hat? If you are a member of a Nursing Service or of the British Red Cross Society, what could be more convenient than to turn in at SCOTT'S, 1, Old Bond Street, Piccadilly, W. 1. The firm stocks the hats worn by members serving under the Joint War Committee, the Territorial Nursing Service, and of the Canadian Nursing Sisters. In addition Scott's sale of ordinary stock begins on July 2nd. This is a chance which should not be missed, as the firm is noted for the style, taste and smartness of its millinery.

Again, MME. MILLS, of 296, Regent Street, W. 1, has so large a clientele among nurses that it is evident she understands their tastes and requirements. Call on her and see whether she does not understand yours.

COATS.

Every woman needs a coat—uniform or otherwise—and Messrs. STUDD & MILLINGTON, civil and military tailors, 51, Conduit Street, Bond Street, W. 1, will supply either, from 3½ guineas. In a "Studington" Coat you are well and comfortably clad, whatever the weather. Twenty-nine of these coats have recently been supplied to the nursing staff of the Liverpool Merchants' Mobile Hospital, B.E.F., France, and have proved most satisfactory. Equally satisfactory is a "Studington" when worn by its happy possessor in Bond Street.

FOODS.

Of Foods for the up-building of mother and infant, Allenburys' Diet, a partially digested food for Nursing Mothers, and the Allenburys' Foods for Infants, supplied by ALLEN & HANBURYS, LTD., Lombard Street, E.C., are very valuable.

Robinson's Patent Barley, KEEN, ROBINSON & CO., LTD., London, is also of proved value for making barley-water for the dilution of cow's milk in feeding young infants.

Many babies flourish amazingly when VIROL is added to their dietary, and for mothers and nurses, nothing could be better than a cup of BOVRIL or of one of SYMINGTON'S SOUPS, of which there are 13 varieties, and FREEMAN'S DEVONSHIRE CUSTARD makes an excellent sweet.

THE TREASURE COT.

The Patent "Treasure Cot" for infants is all that its name implies. This and other specialities for the nursery are supplied by the TREASURE COT CO., LTD., 124, Victoria Street, S.W. The cot has the further advantages that it only weighs 9 lbs., and can be packed small for travelling.

BOOKS.

Most nurses like to possess some professional books of their own. A good selection is easily made from those supplied by MESSRS. H. K. LEWIS, LTD., 136, Gower Street, W.C. 1, and G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS, 24, Bedford Street, W.C. 2.

"WHY DON'T YOU GO TO MANFIELD'S?"

By a Grateful Customer.

"Why don't you go to Manfield's?"

I looked at a row of shoes—tidy, well soled, smart—and I looked at those I had on. They were old and comfortable, and I had discarded all the others in their favour with some reluctance—for I like to be well shod. Then a friend asked me, "Why don't you go to Manfield's, in St. Paul's Churchyard?"

I went.

I found the attractive establishment with a frontage both in St. Paul's Churchyard and Paternoster Row, and paused to inspect its inside show cases. At Manfield's one is not dependent upon what may be brought for one's inspection. All round the spacious bargain basement, where boots and shoes of all kinds can be bought for 10s. a pair, are inside show cases, where, at their leisure, customers can inspect a varied selection, including many bargains. For instance, some high grade shoes, having a tiny flaw, not to be detected by any one but the expert who declined to pass them as perfect, are on sale at astonishingly reduced prices.

Then there is the children's department, devoted entirely to children's footwear—shoes for babies, infants, and small children, of which our illustrations are examples—where the little ones can be fitted without being over-powered by grown-ups. They, and they alone, are the first consideration.

My own experience of Manfield's was as follows. I explained to an assistant what I wanted, and straightway she fetched the very pair. No trying on different shapes. No suggestion that this pair will perhaps be more comfortable. She fitted on a shoe, and at once, after many searchings, ease and smartness, at most moderate cost, were mine.

To a very busy person to be fitted without loss of time was a great boon. To find what I had almost given up hope of finding—a really comfortable pair of shoes—a much greater one.

Every nurse knows that upon the fit of her shoes depends largely, not only her comfort, but her power of endurance, her health, and her good temper. These are worth a long search.

But you need not search for long.
