PRESENTATION.

At the Annual Meeting of the East Suffolk and Ipswich Hospital Nurses' League—recently held at the Hospital—Miss M. Collett, A.R.R.C., was presented, as a mark of affection, with a purse of money, handed to her by the former Matron, Miss M. Deane upon behalf of the past and present members of the League. Miss Collett has been associated with the hospital for twenty-five years, and she was deeply touched by this evidence of the appreciation of her colleagues, to whom she expressed her gratitude with evident feeling. So long as senior and junior nurses work together in good comradeship our Nursing Schools will attract and turn out the right type of nurse. The new Matron at Ipswich, Miss K. V. S. Merriman, R.R.C., who is a very able woman, is evidently carrying on the fine traditions of her greatly respected predecessor.

WEDDING BELLS.

A marriage has recently taken place at Pilton, Somerset, of Mr. W. A. Corben, the Secretary of the Shepton Mallet District Hospital, and Miss B. R. Miller, a Sister at the hospital. The bride, who is highly qualified, was trained at the Queen's Hospital for Children, Hackney, and at King's College Hospital, Denmark Hill. She is also a Certified Midwife. The happy pair received many beautiful presents, amongst them an ebony toilet set from the Matron and nursing staff, and cheques from the Committee and the Medical Staff.

In consequence of the numerous inquiries which have been addressed to him, the Home Secretary desires to give notice that, in accordance with the Order in Council of March 15th, 1922, Summer Time will not cease until 3 a.m. (Summer Time) in the morning of Sunday, October 8th, when clocks will be put back to 2 a.m.

HAPPINESS WELL DESERVED.

How few present-day Nurses realise the unceasing labour, the weary feet and brains, which have contributed to the honourable status won for them by their elder colleagues in the thirty years' struggle for the State Organisation of Nursing, and the help of numbers of other persons out of the limelight who have contributed to that great reform! Would that our Nurses were taught the history of their profession in the Training Schools, and the grace of gratitude!

During the whole thirty years the Editor of this Journal had her arduous labours considerably lightened by the help of Miss Elizabeth Dellow, who for all that time was an inmate of her home—as doctor's assistant and housekeeper—during which time she answered thousands of calls, telephone messages and other enquiries, and knew more of the political progress of the work than many members of the profession.

Now, alas! her daily help is available no longer.

On Saturday last, at the Parish Church of St. Marylebone, W., Miss Dellow was married to Mr. George Chandler, the Crown Clerk of the Parish. Dr. and Mrs. Bedford Fenwick drove the bride to church, who was most becomingly dressed in brown and pink, and she was given away by the former, the ceremony being conducted by the Rector, the Rev. W. D. Morrison and the Rev. H. Burne. The Rev. R. Percy Thompson delivered a feeling address.

Many relatives and friends of both families were present, and were touched by the exquisite music—especially by the singing of Mr. Harry Marriott, who rendered in his most lovely tenor voice, "In Native Worth," from Haydn's Creation.

Mr. Tomblin, Organist Precentor, presided at the organ, and played Mendelssohn's "Wedding March."

Dr. and Mrs. Fenwick signed the Register, and afterwards gave a Reception to the bride and bridegroom and their friends at the Great Central Hotel—where evidently wedding functions are a speciality.

Refreshments and delicious dainties were served in the Oak Room, where, under a large bell of white flowers and ribbons, a white settee with satin cushions was reserved for the bridal pair, from which coign of vantage they welcomed their friends.

The wedding cake, decorated with orange blossom and silver leaves, the gift of Mrs. Fenwick, was specially made by the cunning hand of Miss Danson, of Millom, a celebrated north country confiseur, and was a real, rich, old-fashioned cake, such as few brides can command in these days, and was pronounced perfection.

The health of the bride and bridegroom was proposed in happy phrase by Dr. Fenwick, who wished them the happiness they well deserved, and the toast was heartily responded to by the guests clinking their glasses of sparkling "bubbly."

Many beautiful and useful presents were received by both Mr. and Mrs. Chandler to add to the comfort of their home at Harrow.
