THE STATE REGISTERED NURSES' UNIFORM.

Why should not nurses this year make an effort to give themselves a really handsome Christmas present? So often they spend all that they can afford on others. But this is an exceptional year. That protected uniform for which they have waited so long, for which they have even gone shabby, because it was "no use to buy a new uniform till they could have the State one," is now obtainable, and every Registered Nurse should be trim and smart in it for Christmas.

We advise them to visit any of the following firms and inspect the various models:—

Messrs. Boyd Cooper, 4, George Street, Hanover Square, W. 1.

Brooks & Co., 143-149, Borough High Street, London Bridge.

Charles, 42, Upper George Street, Bryanston Square, W. 1.

Messrs. Garrould, 150, Edgware Road, W.

And, of course, stockings and shoes from the Bendable Shoe Co., 145, Oxford Street, W. 1, must complete the costume.

WHERE TO BUY CHRISTMAS GIFTS.

AT MESSRS. GARROULDS,
150, Edgware Road, W.2.

As Christmas draws near the problem of gifts for those we care for becomes an ever-increasing and absorbing one. For the most part our means are slender, and our time for selecting or making them is very limited.

Our best plan, therefore, is to visit the establishment of some well-known firms, before the great rush of Christmas is upon us, and faithful to our old friends, we find ourselves best served. Thus in the Christmas Bazaar of Messrs. Garroulds we find gifts to suit old and young, grave and gay. Whether we wish to equip a Christmas tree in a hospital ward, or charm the hearts of a family of children away in the country, Messrs. Garroulds will supply your need, at most moderate cost. Our advice is to shop there, and shop soon.

AT FOYLES,

121-125, Charing Cross Road, W.C.

If you are a book lover, or have friends who are, you will visit with pleasure and profit, Messrs. Foyles, and browse at the book shelves where Book Bargains, new and old, uncluding up-to-date professional books, are to be found. Their slogan is "That book you want, Foyles can supply it. That book you don't want, Foyles will buy it."

AT ROUSE BROTHERS,
61, Charlotte Street, W.

Do not forget the babies. If you use Matthew's Fuller's Earth Dusting Powder, the chances are they will be comfortable, and therefore happy. And so all the family will benefit for a contented baby makes a happy household. It is supplied by Rouse Brothers.

INGRAM'S "ECLIPSE" HOT WATER BOTTLE.

Could there be a more acceptable Christmas gift than an Ingram's "Eclipse" Hot Water Bottle? At all times a rubber bottle is a joy, but its glory becomes dim when it leaks at the neck, or the washer becomes loose. Those misfortunes cannot happen if you have an Ingram's "Eclipse," fitted with a patent washer that cannot be lost, and a patent neck that cannot leak.

These bottles are made by "Ingram's, London," manufacturers of rubber goods for over three quarters of a century.
