"HONOUR A PHYSICIAN ACCORDING TO THY NEED OF HIM WITH THE HONOURS DUE UNTO HIM."

The sudden death of Dr. Frederick Foord Caiger, F.R.C.P. London, D.P.H., on September 5th, while on holiday in Scotland, will be lamented by none more than by members of the Nursing Profession, to whom he was always a courteous and much loved chief, and a staunch supporter of the registrationists through their long struggle to obtain legal status. He was a member of the Central Committee for State Registration of Nurses, and a constant attendant at its meetings, and was also Hon. Treasurer, and at one time President, of the Fever Nurses' Association. He was, indeed, one more instance of the fact that some of the most brilliant members of the medical profession, such as Sir William Savory and Sir Victor Horsley, have shown the greatest sympathy with trained nurses and their aspirations.

A Memorial Service was held in the Chapel at St. Thomas's Hospital, at which hospital Dr. Caiger was Emeritus Physician, which was attended by the Treasurer, Members of the Honorary and Resident Medical Staffs, and Miss A. Lloyd Still, Matron and members of the Nursing Staff.

There was also a Memorial Service at St. Andrew's, Stockwell, taken by the Vicar, the Rev. G. D. Barlow Poole, who afterwards conducted the service at the graveside at Brompton Cemetery. The congregation at St. Andrew's was chiefly composed of the Nursing and domestic staffs of the South Western Hospital, where Dr. Caiger was Medical Superintendent for 39 years.

Deep sympathy is felt for Mrs. Caiger in her sudden bereavement.
