

MARRIAGE.

On Saturday, July 26th, Miss Margaret Lamont, S.R.N., only daughter of the late John Lamont of Meildorrach, Braemar, Aberdeenshire, was married to Mr. Ian Rees, B.Sc., of Conningsbay, Palmers Green. The wedding took place at the Brompton Oratory and there was a reception afterwards at the Club of the Royal British Nurses' Association. The bride, as she came up the aisle on the arm of her brother in Highland dress, looked very charming in her gown of oyster satin over pink chiffon and the lovely wedding veil was lent by her cousin, Dr. Frances Bruce (Mrs. McGlashan). She carried a bouquet of pink roses and asparagus fern. The bridesmaids were Miss Gwen Rees (sister of the bridegroom), and the tiny three-year-old niece of the bride, Miss Alexandra Lamont. Mr. Alfred Lamont, brother of the bride, acted as best man. The bride's going-away dress was of brown French tweed with a hat to match, and the honeymoon, we learn, will be spent in Switzerland.

Dr. and Mrs. McGlashan, cheque, jewellery, etc.; the bride's aunt, old Crown Derby dinner set, canteen of old Jacobean silver, crystal and cheque; Sir John Coode-Adams, silver tea set; Sir Alfred Rice-Oxley and Lady Rice-Oxley, illustrated "Life of David Copperfield."

On the evening prior to the wedding, the Members in residence gave a dinner in honour of the bride at which Miss Beatrice Cutler, Nurse Hon. Secretary, took the chair. After the loyal toasts of the King and of H.R.H. the President, Miss Macdonald proposed the health of the bride and bridegroom. This was replied to by Miss Lamont, and then Mrs. Brameld, senior member of the R.B.N.A.'s Co-operation, proposed the health of Mrs. Lamont, the bride's mother. It proved a very gay and delightful dinner, and we feel sure that the bride must have been pleased with the many evidences of good will shown to her on this her last evening at the Club. Mrs. Rees took her training at the Royal Infirmary, Edinburgh; she has been

A telegram was received from H.R.H. the President, conveying good wishes and congratulations to the bride and bridegroom. Among many others there was one from Mrs. Lamont, mother of the bride, who unfortunately had not been able to come up to London from Braemar. The Club had been beautifully decorated by Miss Beatrice Treasure and many friends of the bride and bridegroom attended the reception, among them were Mr. and Mrs. Rees, parents of the bridegroom, Dr. Daniel Rees, Mrs. McGlashan, Dr. Dorothy Davis, Sir Alfred and Lady Rice-Oxley and others.

The car to take the bride to the church was very kindly lent to the Association by Dr. Starke Currie.

H.R.H. Princess Arthur of Connaught sent to the bride as a wedding gift a beautiful clock. Among other presents were the following:—Mr. and Mrs. Rees, furniture and dinner and fruit services; Mrs. Lamont, linen and cheque; some Members of the Royal British Nurses' Association, oak writing desk and chair; Miss Macdonald, cheque; staff of Chiswick High School, dining-room timepiece;
