

less starch than any other gluten bread that has been submitted to us, and are light and crisp at the same time. For the diabetic patient they are all that could be desired, for they are manufactured with extreme care, and of the very best materials procurable. Indeed, the same remark applies to each form of Diabetic Food sent us by this well-known firm.

THE "NON PLUS ULTRA" CLINICAL THERMOMETER, Hicks's latest patent (Mr. James J. Hicks, 8, 9, and 10, Hatton Garden, E.C.).—Medical Men and Nurses will cordially welcome features claimed for this Thermometer are that it has no contraction in the stem and no chamber to contain superfluous mercury; its constriction is made in the top of the bulb itself. Consequently the whole of the mercury gets thoroughly warmed at once, and the temperature is not only recorded more accurately than before, but in half the time. There being no contraction in the stem the space of one inch (referred to below), which used to be wasted, is now turned to good account, as the divisions and the figures are brought down close to the bulb. (See illustration.) The scale of the Thermometer is therefore this excellent and improved Thermometer, particularly when such excellence and improvements have been attained by a manufacturer who practically knows his wares, as Mr. Hicks thoroughly does. The chief and important rendered nearly twice as open as before, and is much more easily and accurately read. The indestructible index is, of course, retained. A four-inch "Non Plus Ultra" Clinical Thermometer will show as open a scale of graduations as
