

tion; it proves to be a perfect mine of information. It is of great service to us for reference, and will prove doubly so to those for whom it is immediately provided.

"A HANDBOOK OF ROLLER BANDAGING," by Fanny Fullagar, with a preface by Dr. Matthew Coates. Third Edition (Messrs. Griffith, Farran, Okeden and Welsh, Charing Cross Road, W.). Price 6d. We are very pleased to see that this capital little handbook has reached a third edition, and also that a fourth edition is called for and being published. The authoress has done her work well, and deserves every credit for the great care she has bestowed upon the compilation. The illustrations, whilst not being altogether specimens of artistic merit, are sufficiently distinct and practical for the purpose.

"THE NURSING RECORD": the Representative Organ of the Nursing Profession. (Id. Published weekly at 11, Ludgate Hill, London.)—A useful journal, full of information for Nurses; a chronicle for Hospital and Medical Institution news; also it has instructive chapters on medical subjects. Any woman employed in nursing should not be without this serial.—Ladies' Treasury.

Reports of Meetings.

QUARTERLY Court of the Governors of the London Hospital was held on Wednesday, March 2, at two p.m., in the Library of the Medical College. Mr. J. H. Buxton took the chair, and there was a large attendance. The notice convening the meeting, and the report of the Committee having been read by the Secretary,

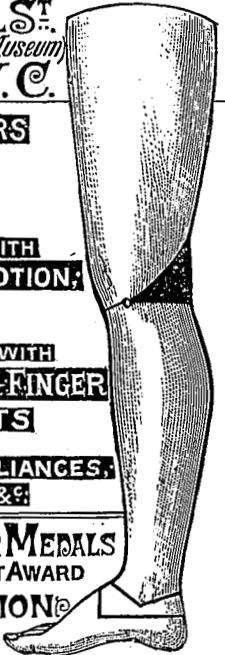

The CHAIRMAN moved the adoption of the Report, and in doing so, in a lengthy speech, commented upon the "attacks" which had been made upon the Hospital for the last eighteen months by a small number of Governors, and which he stated had resulted in great harm to the finances of the Institution. He called upon the Governors at large to stop this sort of thing, and stated that the London Hospital had taken a leading part in improving the training of Nurses, and that at the end of one year they considered their Nurses thoroughly trained, but withheld from them a certificate until the end of the second year, so that the Hospital might have some advantage from the training it had given; that the Probationers had one week's holiday at the end of six months', twelve months', and eighteen months' work, and then a whole month's holiday before they returned on the Staff as Certificated Nurses, or seven weeks' holiday in the two years; that this arrangement was preferred by the Probationers, who were quite contented with it. To prove the public opinion of their Nurses, he stated,

A CONCENTRATED
 — RAW FOOD.

Most Nourishing and Strengthening.

Indispensable for Invalids and Sick Room.

The Lancet, October, 1891, says: "Our analysis and examination of this admirable preparation show the extraordinary degree of concentration that has been attained by a process which can only be regarded as phenomenal, since the retention of the beef-juices in the raw and un-cooked state has also been secured. The total solid matter amounted to 22.22 per cent. of which 1.25 was mineral constituent (phosphate), 16.90 albuminous matter (2.68 nitrogen), and 4.07 other organic principles. Despite the excellent condition of the sample submitted to us, no objectionable preservatives could be found."
 Of all Chemists, &c., in 2oz., 6oz., and 12oz. bottles, price 1s. 3d.; 8s.; and 5s. respectively.
