

THE BRITISH JOURNAL OF NURSING

WITH WHICH IS INCORPORATED
THE NURSING RECORD

EDITED BY MRS. BEDFORD FENWICK REGISTERED NURSE.

No. 2054. Vol. 87.

SEPTEMBER, 1939.

Price Sevenpence.

EDITORIAL.

WAR.

“ We Reverently Commit our Cause to God.”

Announcements that this country was now at war with Germany were made on September 3rd in both Houses of Parliament.

THE KING'S MESSAGE TO HIS PEOPLE AT HOME AND OVERSEAS.

Broadcasting on that same day to the Empire the King said :—

In this grave hour, perhaps the most fateful in our history, I send to every household of my people, both at home and overseas, this message spoken with the same depth of feeling for each one of you as if I were able to cross your threshold and speak to you myself.

For the second time in the lives of most of us we are at war.

Over and over again we have tried to find a peaceful way out of the differences between ourselves and those who are now our enemies.

But it has been in vain. We have been forced into a conflict. For we are called, with our allies, to meet the challenge of a principle which, if it were to prevail, would be fatal to any civilised order in the world.

It is the principle which permits a State in the selfish pursuit of power to disregard its treaties and its solemn pledges ; which sanctions the use of force or threat of force against the sovereignty and independence of other States.

Such a principle, stripped of all disguise, is surely the mere primitive doctrine that Might is Right.

And if this principle were established throughout the world the freedom of our own country and of the whole British Commonwealth of nations would be in danger.

But far more than this—the peoples of the world would be kept in the bondage of fear, and all hopes of settled peace and of the security of justice and liberty among nations would be ended. This is the ultimate issue which confronts us.

For the sake of all that we ourselves hold dear, and of the world's order and peace, it is unthinkable that we should refuse to meet the challenge.

It is to this high purpose that I now call my people at home and my peoples across the seas, who will make our cause their own.

I ask them to stand calm and firm and united in this time of trial.

The task will be hard. There may be dark days ahead, and war can no longer be confined to the battlefield, but we can only do the right as we see the right and reverently commit our cause to God.

If one and all we keep resolutely faithful to it, ready for whatever service or sacrifice it may demand, then, with God's help, we shall prevail.

May He bless and keep us all.

The King, it is announced, has graciously consented that a copy of his message shall be sent to every household in the country so that all may be able to keep it as a permanent record. Each copy will bear His Majesty's signature in facsimile.

In present circumstances it is inevitable that the preparation in a suitable form of more than 15,000,000 copies of His Majesty's message will take some time, but copies will be delivered as soon as they are ready.

previous page

next page